

Helping Hands

The DfE Relationship education guidance for primary schools states that pupils should know

- that sometimes people behave differently online (e.g. pretend to be someone they are not) and how data can be shared and used online.
- how to keep safe online and recognise risks and harmful content and how to report them.
- about the importance of privacy for both children and adults; and how some secrets can be unsafe to keep.
- that each person's body belongs to them, the differences between appropriate and inappropriate or unsafe contact and recognise feelings of being unsafe.
- how to report concerns or abuse and get advice.

"Brilliant! Child led, interactive and safe. I would recommend this programme to others without hesitation." Childline

Concept

Gentle & appropriate theatre in education programme on staying safe.

"Delivered well, in an age appropriate way, keeping an important sensitive issue fun for the children." Teacher

This programme helps children to stay safe in their relationships with others both on and off line.

Objective

Safe and sensitively run drama and workshop.

The programme use age appropriate drama and discussion workshop to support children in learning about safe contact with others. Using the NSPCC's PANTS rule as the central theme the Safe Team teaches the children about safe and unsafe secrets and body contact as well as recognising the feelings that may occur when you feel unsafe. The programme explores difficult topics such as domestic abuse and child sexual abuse and exploitation in a safe and gentle way.

Outcomes

Proven increase of children's confidence and skills around staying safe in relationships.

- 95% could correctly name all 5 parts of NSPCC's PANTS rule.
- 100% thought the programme helps children to stay safe.
- 71% said they would act differently as a result of the programme.
- 100% of staff would recommend the programme to other schools.
